COMMUNITY UPDATE ABOUT MEASURE A

From the City of Eastvale

The community has consistently prioritized economic development, enhanced emergency response, improved mobility and connectivity, and increased law enforcement, as services you value in our community. Fortunately, even in these challenging times, the City's successful economic development and reinstatement of money taken by the State has put the City in a strong fiscal position.

However, because of a State-budget rule known as the "Gann Limit", Eastvale will be prevented from fully budgeting for and using these economic development (which the community desires) and state-returned revenues to better serve you without voter approval.

On November 18, 2020, the Eastvale City Council unanimously placed Measure A -- the City of Eastvale No-Tax Increase Gann Measure, on a March 2, 2021 Special Election ballot. If enacted, Measure A simply adjusts the City's Gann Limit for 4 years to reflect our Eastvale economic development growth, so the City can fully budget services for local residents and businesses at no additional cost to local taxpayers.

Again, Measure A will not raise taxes or impose a new tax on local residents. It will simply allow the City Council, through public hearings, to fully budget its existing tax revenues to maintain and enhance services and community needs; therefore keeping local revenue local.

Please take a moment to read how Measure A, if enacted, could be used to address the community's priorities without raising tax rates.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT MEASURE A

What is Measure A?

On November 18, 2020, the Eastvale City Council unanimously placed Measure A – the City of Eastvale No-Tax Increase Gann Measure, on a March 2021 special election ballot. If approved by Eastvale voters, Measure A would simply adjust the City's state-mandated budget limit, (called the Gann Limit) for four years to allow the City to fully budget its already-existing tax revenues for City services.

Why was Measure A placed on the Ballot?

Before Eastvale's initial voter-approved Gann Limit was calculated, the State removed significant funds from Eastvale and the three other newly incorporated cities – some of which have since been restored to Eastvale. Eastvale has also successfully grown the local economy, providing the City with additional funding. Measure A would allow Eastvale to budget for these restored and new local revenues.

Will Measure A increase the taxes I pay?

Absolutely not. Measure A does NOT increase existing taxes or impose a new tax. It simply adjusts the “Gann Limit” to allow Eastvale to budget to fully use available revenues to provide the services our community relies on.

Why is Measure A on a special election ballot?

As the state-imposed Gann Limit is a budget item, the City wants to present Measure A to the voters before the start of the new fiscal year in July 2021. Measure A will be the only item on your special election ballot.
